

V! Vancouver Like a Local

Spring Picnic in Vancouver. Photo: Russ | Flickr

© R. Swarden Photography

WHERE TO WATCH EAGLES IN VANCOUVER

Majestic, powerful, striking, imposing, brave, noble. In aboriginal northwest coast culture, the Eagle has been a source of inspiration for both traditional and contemporary artists since the beginning of time. There is no better place to get up close and personal with these fantastic birds than Mud Bay Park. During a walk, jog or ride along the dyke trail it is not uncommon to see dozens of eagles. Now is the perfect time to go to watch these symbolic birds busy at work building and repairing their nests.

More on eagle watching >>

BIKE SHARING COMING TO VANCOUVER THIS SUMMER (FOR REAL THIS TIME)

By June 15th, 2016, One thousand sharable bikes should be ready to roll on city streets, with 500 more to potentially follow by end of summer. Commuters looking for a cheap and convenient two-wheeled way to zip across town will finally have an option.

More on bikes >>

MASHUP: THE BIGGEST EXHIBITION EVER AT THE VANCOUVER ART GALLERY

When an exhibition includes everything from masterpieces by Pablo Picasso to masterpieces by Quentin Tarantino, it's got to be big. MashUp: The Birth of Modern Culture features nearly 400 works of art by 156 different artists and filling all four floors of the gallery.

More on MashUp >>

VANCOUVER'S ENGLISH BAY NAMED ONE OF THE WORLD'S 50 BEST BEACHES

Here's what the writers at The Guardian had to say: "By day, English Beach Bay sands are a mecca for families and volleyball players, but it really comes into its own at dusk. It's then that Vancouverites stroll in to sit on the huge blanched logs that wash up here and gaze out at the sunsets, glass or guitar in hand."

More on English Bay >>

BLOSSOM BARGE COMING TO VANCOUVER THIS APRIL

It's already feeling like Spring is in the air with several February days of sunny, warm weather. So, it's no surprise that news about the upcoming 10th Anniversary of the Cherry Blossom Festival is starting to hit local blogs. There is not much time left until the unofficial start of Springtime in Vancouver!

More on blossoms >>